

Asia-Pacific
Regional Conference
2019
23 April · Singapore

The Future of International Dispute Resolution:
Innovation and Insight from the Asia-Pacific Region

2019 CI Arb Asia Pacific Regional Conference

Next generation session

CI Arb is pleased to announce that the inaugural 2019 CI Arb Asia Pacific Regional Conference to be held on 23 April 2019 will feature a new voices panel of young members of CI Arb.

This panel will feature presentations by young scholars and practitioners on topics of fresh interest or involving emerging jurisdictions in the Asia-Pacific, along the theme of the conference “The Future of International Dispute Resolution: Innovation and Insight from the Asia Pacific Region”. Speakers can address any form of international dispute resolution and are encouraged to consider a broad variety of topics within the conference theme.

CI Arb is calling for abstract proposals which will be reviewed by the organising committee. The speakers will be selected to showcase the energy and talent of the next generation of dispute resolution leaders in the Asia-Pacific region.

All proposals must be submitted by 28 February 2019 to newvoices@ciarb-apacconf2019.com. The abstract proposals must be provided in a word document not exceeding 500 to 1000 words, accompanied by a cover email indicating the author’s nationality/nationalities, age (applicants must be under 40 years old), affiliation, qualifications, CI Arb membership and whether the abstract proposal has been either submitted and/or accepted for publication elsewhere. Each proposal will be reviewed by the organising committee.

The selection results will be announced by mid-March 2019. Panelists will be expected to bear their own travel expenses but they will receive a full waiver of the conference fee.

Further information on the 2019 CI Arb Asia Pacific Regional Conference can be found www.ciarb-apacconf2019.com.